In the Newark Sunday Call of Newark, N. J., in its issue of October 25th are three illustrations showing Mr. Edmund R. Halsey of Maplewood, N. J., who was the leading independent candidate on the ticket for Governor of New Jersey which election was held last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Halsey have spent several summers in Northfield and at one time owned Birchwood Cottage in Mountain Park. They have many personal friends here. E. D. (Ted) Halsey, Jr., is a graduate of Mount Hermon and Dorothy was at one time a student at Northfield Seminary.

Thanksgiving Day services will be held Thursday morning Nov. 26, and our offering of money, vegetables and fruit will be sent as has been our custom to the Franklin County Hospital at Greenfield.

Books At Library

Dr. Bigelow, State Health Commissioner, as a part of his Health Program, is giving the people of the Commonwealth, through Public Libraries, the use of certain books relating to common and distressing diseases of adult people. Three of these volumes are now available at Dickinson Library and may be taken out, on card, by any adult patron.

The titles of these books are: "Cancer and the Public, Childs; Arthritis and Rheumatoid Conditions, Pemberton; Diabetic Manual, Joslin. If these books prove of use to our people the State will supply more books from time to time.

Town Tax $15,754.17

Way back in 1900 the town tax levied was $15,754.17 according to warrant signed by Henry C. Holton, E. S. Bardwell and J. L. Hammond as selectmen and delivered to Merrill T. Moore as Collector of Taxes. The original warrant was brought to The Herald office by Mr. Moore and it is an interesting document. It affords a marvelous sidelight on Northfield's increase of taxes in 31 years to the present amount of nearly $80,000.

R. R. Traffic Held Up

Last Thursday afternoon a south-bound detector car, which was on a tour of inspection on the Connecticut Valley division of the Boston & Maine railroad, was wrecked near the station in Bernardston, when a Journal burned off one wheel and caused the car to derail. Train No. 74 for the south and No. 77 going north were delayed and had to be routed over the Central Vermont from East Northfield to Millers Falls and then to Greenfield. There was a two hour delay.

Greenfield Man Protests Shooting Tame Squirrels

Mr. C. L. Lothrop voices a sentiment that wins hearty approval among many residents in Northfield and brings shame upon those hunters who with gun in hand lack the first element of sportsmanship. In the Gazette he says:

"May I voice a word of protest against a certain few of the so-called 'sportsmen,' who are out in such numbers during the hunting season. 'Pheasants have become very numerous in certain sections of the town of Greenfield and we happen to live in just one of these localities. We have never posted our fields, always being glad to share the privilege of shooting on property that could very easily become a private game reserve if we so desired. But when one is awakened at daybreak by shooting in their dooryard, only to discover three hunters bagging two beautiful grey squirrels, almost as tame as the common house cat, is it any wonder that some of us feel justified in taking steps which will prevent further invasion by such vandals?"

"It certainly does not require much skill to bring down a squirrel from a leafless, almost isolated tree. Why not go into the woods where the little animals are wild and the trees thick enough to give them a 'sporting chance,' at least? To walk into the front yard of private property to kill grey squirrels is, to my way of thinking, about as sporting a proposition as to shoot them on Boston Common or in any other public park."

P. T. A. Meeting Presents Red Cross Pictures

In connection with the Parent-Teachers Association at Alexander Hall next Monday evening November 9th Miss Dakin of Boston will give an illustrated address on the work of the Red Cross. The meeting will be presided over by Mr. William R. Moody, and the Hon. John W. Haigis of Greenfield is expected to be present. The public is most cordially invited to be present.

Northfield Boys Work At Hermon "Gym"

Fifty-seven boys were on hand for gym work at Mount Hermon last Monday evening, with ten more in the gallery. The latter were allowed in the pool. Half a dozen of the grown-ups who brought over cars started to reduce their waistlines by engaging in the calisthenics at the rear of the younger squad. Some of these men also took a dip in the pool. Mr. Tom Parker coached some of the boys who do not swim well.

Last week the figures were 41 boys on the floor, and about 10 more looking on.

The Record of Christian Work for November is out and has been sent to all subscribers from the publication office at Concord, N. H. It is attractive in appearance as usual and contains a lot of interesting articles for Christian workers in all lines of endeavor. Rev. Wallace W. Anderson of Manchester, N. H., contributes a special article on "Prison Songs—A Thanksgiving Sermon."

Sir Wilfred T. Grenfell and Mrs. Dan Crawford also have equally interesting articles. Wherever you live—if you are interested in Christian Work—you ought to be a reader of the publication.

Mr. A. P. Fitt is the Editor, and Mr. F. W. Pearsall is the business manager with offices in the Bookstore building at East Northfield.

Last Saturday there was shipped by freight from Northfield two large packing boxes filled with clothing of various kinds to the Crossnore Schools at Crossnore, N. C. The clothing was collected in response to an appeal published in The Herald by Mrs. William F. Hoehn and came largely from members of our summer colony. Mrs. Hoehn extends her thanks to all contributors—to The Herald for publicity and to Mr. J. S. Burnett and Charles Johnson for trucking.

Northfield Children To See Alice In Wonderland

They are going—some forty children from Northfield and Mount Hermon on Friday November 6th to Greenfield to see "Alice in Wonderland" the first of a series of six plays in the High School Auditorium at four o'clock.

A woman producer, who stands quite alone in the history of the theatre heads the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre company and she will present a series of six plays to the children of this section of Franklin County.

Eight years ago, Mrs. Major organized the first company of professional adult players ever to devote its entire time to giving productions for children. Clare Tree Major's contribution to the theatre, or perhaps to the young folks who attend it—is unique. Her productions have met with approval and support of school authorities, parent-teacher groups, and club women everywhere.

"Alice in Wonderland," a story fascinating to children and equally entertaining to grown-ups, because of its subtle humor will be the first of the series of six plays, presented. The strange adventures of Alice with the Mad Hatter, the Duchess and the other amusing characters whom she meets will provide one of the most thrilling productions that Mrs. Major has ever presented for her young audiences.

Northfield Farms Lands To Be Posted Soon

A meeting of the land owners of the Upper and Lower Farms and the Mountain is called for Friday evening, November 6th, at 8 o'clock in the Lower Farms schoolhouse. The purpose of the meeting is to see if there are enough owners of adjoining tracts of land suitable for hunting, who are willing to go in together, post their land, and regulate the hunting over their property, by the formation of a game preserve. It is understood that certain wealthy individuals have secured an income from otherwise waste land by this means, but so far as is known, this is the first time that a group of independent owners have considered forming such an association for their own benefit. Rollin Shearer, whose fine heifer was mistaken for a deer last season is the moving spirit in the project.

Armistice Day 1931 Proclamation Issued

President Hoover has issued a proclamation calling upon citizens of the United States to observe November 11 as Armistice day with ceremonies "giving expression to our gratitude that peace exists and pledging ourselves to the effort to perpetuate the peace of the world and to cultivate relations of friendship and amity with all nations."

Governor Joseph B. Ely proclaimed Wednesday, November 11th, Armistice day and asked that through appropriate patriotic exercises tribute be paid to those who sacrificed themselves in the World War. Peace-time enemies, he said, stood in the path of the principles for which they died.

"Greed," he said, "selfishness indifference, and the loss of respect for the rights of our fellow men are among the peace-time foes that challenge the cause of human liberty and human justice."

Northfield Masons Visit Brattleboro

Masons to the number of nearly 300 were present from all nearby places including Northfield at Masonic Temple in Brattleboro last Thursday evening at a joint meeting of Columbian and Brattleboro lodges, when by special dispensation of the grand lodges of the two states, Republican lodge of Greenfield, Mass., came to confer the Master Mason degree on one of its members. After the work Bingham chapter, O. E. S., served an excellent buffet lunch in the dining room.

The officers of Columbian and Brattleboro lodges opened the lodge, also closed it after the degree work. It is expected that the two local lodges will go to Greenfield later in the Masonic year in an exchange of courtesies.

Henry C. Culver is worshipful master of Columbian lodge and LaVerne Thayer of Brattleboro lodge. Frank V. Woodrow is worshipful master of Republican lodge. He was assisted by the worshipful masters of Sugar Loaf lodge of South Deerfield and Bay State lodge of Montague, Mass.

Red Cross Starts Armistice Day

Wednesday, November 11th, Armistice Day, the anniversary of the cessation of the World War, the American Red Cross is to go into action for its annual drive for membership. It is expected that the drive will be short, intensive, and as in other years successful. It is expected, also, that there will be enough canvassers to finish the work within a week and that the full quota will be reached within that time, if not within a day or two, with more members than required to meet the number allotted to the town of Northfield.

Mrs. N. P. Wood will have charge of the drive here. Incentive to membership this year is the fact that it is the golden jubilee of the founding of American Red Cross society. Fifty years of service to humanity is an achievement which captivates the imagination of old and young and is of itself a lodestone which should draw a larger membership than ever before, and make an appeal to those who have never before joined. Its history during the past half century is an appealing one, as it has advanced year after year, into sections and accidents where its services of mercy were needed, and there is the urge of pride as an incentive to enroll this year of all years, in an organization which has been outstanding in its service to humanity for the past half century. The Red Cross record itself is an appeal which no words can embody, but a great achievement which invites the support and co-operation of all generous, patriotic and humane men and women.

County chairman John W. Haigis confidently hopes that the county quota will be obtained.

Katherine Parker Speaks At The Fortnightly

On Friday afternoon, November thirteenth, the Fortnightly will have a program of particular interest in the week of Armistice Day. Our thoughts naturally turn to matters of government and events of current interest.

Miss Katherine V. Parker, of South Lancaster and Boston, will give us an appreciation of "Our President, Herbert Hoover." In her position for two years as President of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts, Miss Parker has been in conference with President Hoover; and as daughter of the Honorable Herbert Parker, former attorney general of Massachusetts, and sister of George Parker, former registrar of motor vehicles, and of Haven Parker, assistant Federal district attorney, Miss Parker lives in a family devoted to public service, and views governmental affairs at close range.

Mr. Frank L. Duley will give a fifteen minute talk on Current Affairs. This is always keenly interesting and delightful.

Music will be supplied by Miss Helen Bush, pianist, also of the Seminary Faculty. This is the first appearance of Miss Bush, since her summer spent in the Schmitt School of Music, in Hollywood, California. Her piano selections will be of modern music.

Because this program is of general interest, the meeting is an open one, and all men and women of this vicinity are invited. A special invitation is extended to the high school students who are members of the course "Problems in Democracy."

Auction Coming Soon

An auction sale of the effects of the late Willie Allen will be held on Saturday November 14th at his late residence on Winchester hill on the Northfield-Winchester Road. Quite a large amount of old and antique articles will be offered as well as farming implements, etc.

A CORRECTION

In our issue of October 23rd account of the wedding of Tenney-Cushman we used the name of Charles E. Tenney. It should have read Clarence Tenney. We are sorry for the error.

Brings Suit Over Purchase Of Hotel Here

Suit has been filed in the office of the clerk of the superior court at Greenfield by Philomene Fortier and Celeda Bergeron of Holyoke, who seek to recover $5,000 from Adelard J. and Mary Monat of Northfield. The plaintiffs claim they bought the hotel business of the defendants on June 26, paying $2,000 in cash and giving their note for $10,000. They further allege they subsequently had to pay various obligations and liens on the property which the defendants should have paid and represented as having been paid. They also allege the defendants misrepresented the profits of the business and that they were induced to buy the hotel because of these false representations.

Bernardston Man Asks $5,000

Walter Moore of Bernardston has filed an action of tort against Dudley C. Fuller of Greenfield for $5,000 as the result of injuries to himself and his wife when the car they were driving collided with one driven by Fuller on the Colrain-Greenfield road September 19. Moore is represented by Atty Homer Sherman of Charlemont.

Ralph Clark of Bernardston, father of the girl who was riding with Fuller at the time of the accident, is suing Moore for $2,000 for the injuries sustained by his daughter. In a third action Leslie V. Fuller of Greenfield, who is Fuller's correct name, sues Moore for $5,000 for injuries to himself and damage to his car in the same accident.

Favors Disarmament

All the girls at the Northfield Seminary have been approached this week relative to signing a petition urging that the U. S. government uphold a strong program for reduction of all forms of armament at the World Disarmament Conference at Geneva in 1932.

The last clause reads as follows: "We realize that the responsibilities of the government of the next generation lie with us as future citizens and leaders. We believe that our full possibilities of citizenship will be handicapped unless definite steps are taken toward the fulfillment of world peace." Thousands of girls throughout the country are organizing in the form of the Girls Reserves, who will present the petition to President Hoover next week.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Day of Gill and is a former student of Mount Hermon. The young couple will reside for the present with the groom's parents in Gill.

Business Women Met

Judge Philip H. Ball was the guest speaker at a regular dinner meeting of the Franklin County Business and Professional Women's club Tuesday evening in Greenfield. Among the guests present was Miss Jeanette G. Daboll, assistant principal of Northfield Seminary.

Procedure in district probate, courts was explained by Judge Ball. He also told various methods by which cases are taken from one court to another. The speaker answered questions at the close of his talk.

Indications of optimism are encouraging these days especially when sustained by facts. It is reported that the Sears Roebuck store in Greenfield has been awarded first prize for its volume of business in "Sears New England Days Sale" which was 29% higher than their best previous sale and 12 1/2% increase over last year. Congratulations Mr. Kenney.

Eastern Star Holds Interesting Meeting

The regular meeting of Northfield Chapter, O. E. S., was of great interest. During the meeting a program was given in memory of Robert Morris, the founder of the Order.

Appropriate music was rendered by Mrs. Mildred Addison and Miss Dorothy Pearson; Mrs. Pearson, the Worthy Matron read selections from his writings and the Worthy Patron, Mr. Clarence Steadler read the well known poem "We meet upon the Level and we part upon the Square." Mrs. N. P. Wood read a historical paper of his life and work.

Following the meeting a Hallo-we'en Party was enjoyed in the Banquet Hall. The tables were decorated with Jack o' lanterns, autumn leaves, yellow and black being the color scheme. The Committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Foley, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Franklin and Mrs. Nellie Adams in attractive costumes served sweet cider, doughnuts, cheese and pop corn balls. Under each plate was a conundrum and these read in turn caused much merriment.

Because of the phases of the moon, no meeting will be held during this month.

EDITORIAL

It is better to prevent a crime than to punish someone for having committed it. And, on the same principle, it is better to enforce a few basic laws than to pass new and restrictive laws which are unenforceable, and serve only to make law-breakers of otherwise law-abiding citizens.

This is a fact of which we seem to have lost sight in our passion for passing laws. Probably no other civilized people are bound by so many legal restrictions as we are—and it is certain that no other civilized people are plagued by so much crime, or have so conspicuously failed in apprehending and convicting criminals. That is something legislators and voters might take into account when the time for consideration of new laws comes again.

Attention is called to the series of articles under the caption of "Leaves from my Portfolio" by Rev. Charles Chambers Conner of Northfield which began in the last issue. The series are original studies or thoughts selected from a vast amount of material and the expressions are as natural as the shining of the sun or the flowing of water. They are gems of literary effort.

Uneasy individuals who are putting their cash behind Aunt Mary's picture, or other impromptu hiding places—and keeping it there—were rebuked Wednesday by a national relief organization committee. Prominent among suggestions for helping the business situation, were recommendations that people with jobs resume normal buying and that hoarding and unnecessary withdrawal of money from banks be stopped. In its report on employment plans and suggestions to Chairman Gifford, of the committee, headed by Harry A. Wheeler of Chicago, also told bankers they should be as liberal as possible in lending money.

A fine word of optimism comes from the Rotary Club at Great Barrington last week when Dr. Stanley Kreks, president of the Institute of Mercantile Art of New York, was the speaker at the weekly meeting.

Dr. Kreb's message was so full of common sense and hope that the Editor takes pleasure in quoting his words:

Dr. Krebs predicted that business would take an upward trend by the latter part of November or the early part of December unless conditions, not now existing develop. He based this prediction upon his knowledge of recent conferences having to do with the re-distribution of the gold reserve of the world.

The accumulation of this gold reserve of ten billion dollars, five billion in the United States and two billion in France, with an unequitable spread of the three billion balance throughout the rest of the world, has been the true cause of the international depression, according to the speaker.

This having been established some months ago as the primary cause of present conditions, financiers of the world have attempted to secure a more even distribution. Conferences of leaders of the federal reserve bank of New York and the leaders in the financial institutions of France, Germany and England have resulted in the acceptance of credits which will mean the release of the huge reserve.

Dr. Krebs told the club that many of the ills of the country are traceable to pessimistic articles which are daily appearing in newspapers and magazines. They are written by men who have little or no knowledge of finance, based upon an idea which germinates in the study of the writer. With depression wholly a matter of finance, relief from it must come as the result of work of financiers and not of writers.

Nations whose gold reserve has been depleted will find relief in the redistribution of the reserve in exchange for credit extended because of confidence in the borrower. Only recently the mills of England have started at capacity because loans have been advanced by the United States and France.

Personal contact between the financiers of the various countries, as well as the political leaders, is to be commended. It is a new type of diplomacy which should be encouraged.

The Poet's Corner

THE POETRY OF PURPOSE

Too long has Poetry been purposeless!
Too long have poets been content to wreath
Their flowers of thought afoot un-living gods
And stone that does not breathe!

Too long their senses, clouded as with wine,
Their feet have tarried in dim idol-
groves,
Have lain their gifts upon Astartes'
shrine,
And waned with her doves!

Too long among the myths ancient Greece,
Their souls have lingered wavering
to and fro;
Drugged with the lore of legend are Come down from long ago!

And it is time that customs old and ill
Were done away with; and the poet's pen
Should dwell no longer on the petrified past—
But deal with living men!

For every singer should endow his song
With noble purpose, so that men thereby
Are led to recognize and banish wrong
And greed and cruelty!

O, World! give now the Bard of Purpose room!
He speaks the word of hope before un-said,
That honor may attach to plow and loom
And all who toil for bread!

That all whose lives are barren and lain waste,
The vampires plunder and the vul-
ture's spoil,
May one day learn the free man's life to taste,
And share the corn and oil!

Aye, harken to him 'ere the countless horde
Of Chaos—Anarchy—arise to smite;
And let it be the pen—and not the sword—
That sets the old world right!

THE LIGHT IN THE WINDOW

Dere's a light dat shines in da windows,
Of homes all over dis worl'.
An' dere rays are bright as dey shine
each night,
For some wandering boy or girl.

It's a light of hope ever burning,
Kept lit by a mother's hands.
An' each night a prayer to dat God upstairs—
As da lamp in da window stands.

It's just like da lighthouse in da sea
Wat's warn da ships in da storms.
Maybe not so bright, but plenty of light
To guide you to your mother's arms.

Wake up, my frien's, can't you see dat light?
It's shining just for you.
Oh, you rolling stones, won't you please come home?
It's most wonderful 'ting you can do.

Dere's a sweet old lady a waiting.
Oh, why don't you make her feel glad?
Won't you heed dat light, an' turn to da right,
An' come home to mother and dad?
Anon.

TWO MEN

There was a man who went through life and found
The way both dark and hard—Fate
willed it so;
And facing much that others could not see,
He overcame much they did not know.

Because he smiled, perhaps, but once a day,
"He is a pessimist," his friends would say.

Another man there was whose lines
of life
Were cast in pleasant places; not a care
He had. While others struggled helplessly,
The world to him was always bright and fair.

Because he smiled so much, men would insist.
That he was just an ideal optimist.
Which, think you, of the two, deserved

The greater credit? Whose side would you take,
The man who fought his fight, and sometimes smiled,
Or he who smiled, but had not fight
to make?

—Howard Bennet.

IN HARMONY WITH GOD

The human heart is the harp of God
Let it be our work to keep in tune
The golden strings that we play upon,
Let our sorrow be clothed in garments bright—

Some soul in trouble may need our light—
This should not be a world of sadness and regret
For the moments of joy we can store
in our hearts
And the moments of sadness, let us forget.

So wen the Master stoops to touch
the strings
The world may hear not a discordant sound
But a melody sweet that understanding brings.

Mary Chilton Cowles

A little girl whose parents are not great readers visited friends the other day. She gazed long and earnestly at the well-filled book-shelves, then amazed us by exclaiming:
"We get books from the library, too, but we take ours back."

Sonnet On An Oriental Rug

O rug, where wert thou made—in distant lands?
Some eastern child has labored
hard on thee,
Who does not know the treatment of
kind hands;
But beautiful thou art the world
may see.

We must so labor to attain our aim,
For smiles and tears are rungs of real success;
The fates do not allow us all world
fame,
Perhaps we go one step alone, or less.

Why do we tread on Oriental rugs
With feet unclean or careless what they do?
We mortals look at you with only shrugs,
At paintings though, we gave profoundly, true.

Indeed you are too charming for the floor,
But rather should be hung at heaven's door.
Jeanette Platt (in October issue of Searles High School Spectator).

WORTHWHILE PREACHMENTS

The Faith of Thomas A. Edison

Thomas A. Edison was born in the year 1847, and lived during the period of world's greatest mechanical development. He was the most perfect embodiment of the ambitions of his age. Like many famous Americans in all walks of life he came from poor but honest parentage. A practical trick played upon him while he was a young telegraph operator afflicted him with deafness. A great affliction it proved to be a blessing in disguise; it shut out a noisy, distracting world and made it possible for him to concentrate all the powers of his intellect upon things worth while. Following in the steps of a galaxy of renowned scientists, inventors, he used their achievements as steps in the ladder of his own ascent to world renown
as the greatest inventor of all time.
Solomon wrote a thousand songs but Edison produced 1200 inventions. All were valuable, practical, usable, profitable. His most famous invention was the incandescent Electric Light.
He cried in a dark world, "Let there be Light, and there was Light." He was a man of great faith. It takes a great faith to make a great prophet.
No man could toil on as he did without a deep faith in the universe, its laws and its Creator. He inherited the scepticism of his scientific forebears as did Lincoln the scepticism of his political ancestors, but like Lincoln he emerged from it into a faith that outshone that of his contemporaries. A practical inventor his religion was also practical. The Golden Rule was the rule of his daily life and conduct. It controlled him in his worship and in his home. His was the religion of the servant rather than of the master. As life ripened he grew on apace, and like Sir Oliver Lodge he looked out into the beyond with eager, expectant gaze. Let Henry Ford speak for him, one of his most intimate friends. "When years increased he turned all the vigor of his trained mind to the hereafter, reached the independent conclusion that individual life continues through the change which we call death." Asked what in his opinion was the greatest deed Edison ever did Mr. Ford replied: "His conclusion that there is a further life for all of us." His was an intelligent, hopeful, profitable, practical religion. He went away expecting light, not darkness. He believed in light now and light forever. He led no armies into battle, he enslaved no people and yet he wielded a power the magnitude of which no warrior ever dreamed. This democratic kindly being bestowed upon the race blessings instead of bondage, service instead of conquest. In the passionate pursuit of material truths and their conversion into usable, beneficent forms mankind has never known his equal; and of this man, this super man, who defies classification what more can be said, what greater tribute paid him than this;
HE WAS HUMANITY'S FRIEND.

Let me quote a few lines from Alice Maston Seaman:
They Do Not Die
"They do not die—those dauntless ones who go
Into the silence of that narrow room;
Great Spirits are not conquered by tomb;
Ever, the onward march of man shall
know
Their presence; nor shall torch of time consume
Of consecration, that new truths might bloom
On rugged heights, where we go faint
and slow—
They are immortal.
So, has one passed to-day.
From Life's full years of service
grand and high;
Out—from the confines of his house
of clay—
One with the Winds, the Waves, the Earth, the Sky;
One—in the work he loved, to live always—
He is not dead—Such Men can never die."

Last Monday's Wrestling

A crowd which taxed the seating capacity of the Northfield Town Hall arena saw Carroll "Gorilla" Cranston, of Northampton, defeat Charles Mo-quin, of Brattleboro, at last Monday night's wrestling bout.

The contest was for two out of three falls to a finish. The first fall was taken by Cranston in 23 min. 25 seconds by a full body hold. The second fall went to Moquin in 11 min.
30 sec. when the "Gorilla" succumbed to a spread eagle. And the third fall was awarded Cranston by default, after six minutes of fast and exciting wrestling. Moquin had clamped the "Gorilla" in a series of head chanceries, and it looked like his match. But in executing a flying tackle at Cranston, who was in a corner he missed.
And, as the Northampton man side stepped, he crashed into a ring post and was knocked unconscious. Being unable to continue, the fall and match were awarded to Cranston.

The semi-final was between Charles Schleis, of Riverside, and Osmond Haven, of Northfield. The bout was won by Schleis in 8 min. 35 seconds by a body hold.

Ralph Kervian, of Northfield, won over Andrew Gason, of Riverside in 3 min. 30 seconds with a body hold.
And his brother Ray defeated Ray Perkins, of Riverside, in 1 min. 40 seconds by a successfully applied headlock.

There were two extra bouts. The first between Wesley Widdison, of Greenfield, and Tommy Welcome, of West Deerfield, resulted in a draw.
The other, between Joe Stewart and Joe Snow, recent contenders for the championship of Franklin county resulted in a win for Stewart in 3 min.
23 seconds by a body hold.
William Dalton was referee, Joseph Field, announcer, and Edward Bis-trick, timekeeper.

"Hattie, what do you like for your lunch?" the new laundress was asked.
"Well, I like eggs," was her suggestion.

"Very well, then, you shall have eggs," agreed Mrs. Smith.
"But, Mrs. Smith," added Hattie,
"don't fix more than six, for I never eat more than that!"

The crash of a flaming plane was filmed as the opening scene of "The Last Flight" the first National feature starring Richard Barthelmess which comes to the Brattleboro Auditorium Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Though "The Last Flight" concerns the adventures of a group of ex-war-fliers—and a girl—it is not an air story. Only the opening shots present the air scenes which are inserted simply to establish and motivate the action which takes place immediately following the Armistice.

This air scene was done in San Fernando Valley while the A. E. F. base hospital was built on Warner Bros. ranch near the First National studios.

"Spent Bullets" is based on "Nikki and Her War Birds" the John Monk Saunders story which ran in Liberty magazine and was later published in novel form as "Single Lady." The author adapted and did the dialogue for the screen story. Barthelmess is supported by an exceptional cast headed by Helen Chandler, Johnny Mack Brown, David Manners, Elliott Nugent, Walter Byron, George Irving, Yola d'Avril and others. William Dieterle directed.

The crash of a flaming plane was filmed as the opening scene of "The Last Flight" the First National feature starring Richard Barthelmess which comes to the Brattleboro Auditorium Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Though "The Last Flight" concerns the adventures of a group of ex-war-fliers—and a girl—it is not an air story. Only the opening shots present the air scenes which are inserted simply to establish and motivate the action which takes place immediately following the Armistice.

This air scene was done in San Fernando Valley while the A. E. F. base hospital was built on Warner Bros., ranch near the First National studios.

"Spent Bullets" is based on "Nikki and Her War Birds" the John Monk Saunders story which ran in Liberty magazine and was later published in novel form as "Single Lady." The author adapted and did the dialogue for the screen story. Barthelmess is supported by an exceptional cast headed by Helen Chandler, Johnny Mack Brown, David Manners, Elliott Nugent, Walter Byron, George Irving, Yola d'Avril and others. William Dieterle directed.

On the piano Miss Bush played La Cathedrale engloutie and La Soiree dans Grenade, both by Debussy, and the Prelude in D flat major and the Ballade in G minor from Chopin. Miss Sands sang O Lord Most Holy by Cesar Franck, Wenn die Rosen Blühen by Reichardt, Schumann's Die Lotus Blume, and To Music by Schubert.

RED CROSS RELIEF IN 79 DISASTERS IN YEAR

Forest Fires, Plagues, Storms, Earthquakes, as Well as Drought, Call for Help.

The forest fires which have raged in Idaho and other western sections this year have presented a serious disaster—one of a number, in addition to the enormous drought relief problems, which have been met by the American Red Cross relief forces.

Suffering, faith and courage are contained in a story coming from the Priest River section in Idaho, told by a volunteer Red Cross worker as follows:

"Picture a happy little homestead near the banks of Priest river in northern Idaho. While father, with a little son tagging at his heels, is out tending crops and adding to the clearing, mother is at home making preparations for another arrival. Then comes the fire demon, sweeping all in its path. While father fights to protect his little home, the stork announces its arrival.

"Mother and baby are bundled in a quilt and loaded on a truck for the race through the flaming forest. Father drives the truck and the little boy sits at his mother's side, brushing away the sparks which fall like rain upon the improvised litter."

To the Red Cross worker, the mother expressed her anxiety to return to the hills to rehabilitate the little homestead. All they possessed was lost in the forest fires. The Red Cross aided all of the families and is working to help them rebuild their homes.

Altogether seventy-nine disasters called for Red Cross help and money during the year just closed. Aside from the drought, which required services of volunteer workers numbering more than 60,000, and a drought relief fund of more than $15,000,000 of which $5,000,000 came from the national Red Cross treasury, help was given in 22 fires, 12 tornadoes, eight storms and eight floods, six forest fires, four earthquakes and four mine explosions, three typhoons and three epidemics, two cloudbursts, and one each hurricane, mine cave-in and railroad accident.

Aside from a major catastrophe, such as the one which, when the whole public was asked to contribute funds for relief, Red Cross relief in these disasters was met from the organization's funds and from special local contributions. Part of each membership, subscribed to Red Cross Chapters at the roll call period from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, goes toward this important work.

Aid for War Veterans

More than 430,000 ex-service men and their families were aided through 2,008 Red Cross Chapters and the national organization during the year ending June 30, 1931. Dependent families were cared for, veterans' claims were filed, hospitalization obtained and many other services given. Part of each contribution during the American Red Cross annual roll call, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, goes toward supporting this vital work for veterans of the World War and other wars in which the United States has engaged.

Books for the Blind

Through American Red Cross Chapters, 2,327 volumes of novels, class books and others, transcribed into braille for blind readers, have been added to libraries, in the past year. These books are to be obtained through the Library of Congress and city libraries. This activity, carried on by a great number of devoted women volunteers in Red Cross Chapters, had its inception in preparing books for war blinded.

Chief Justice Hughes In Tribute to Red Cross

One of the finest tributes ever paid the American Red Cross and its membership was that by Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court, on the occasion of the fiftieth birthday anniversary of the organization on May 21 of this year. Mr. Hughes said: "The American Red Cross represents the united voluntary effort of the American people in the ministry of mercy. It is the finest and most effective expression of the American heart. It knows no partisanship. In the perfection of its cooperation, there is no blemish of distinctions by reason of race or creed or political philosophy.

"However we may differ in all things else, in the activities of the Red Cross we are a united people. None of our boasted industrial enterprises surpasses it in efficiency. . . . It moves with the precision and the discipline of an army to achieve the noblest of human aims.

"The American Red Cross is not only first in war but first in peace. The American people rely upon its ministrations in every great catastrophe. It has given its aid in over one thousand disasters. When, as we hope, war will be no more, still the Red Cross, in the countless activities of relief and rehabilitation, will continue to function as the organized compassion of our country."

The new cement bridge on the Wendell road to Warwick which is located near the junction of the road which leads to the Northfield Mountain road by the Wallace house, is practically completed. The work was done by the Warwick road department under the direction of state engineers. It is an excellent bridge and replaces an old wooden structure which had been there for many years. A temporary bridge constructed at one side of the present structure was erected to take care of traffic during the construction operations.

Farmers in the south have discovered that the obnoxious skunk is a valuable animal after all and a friend of the garden and truck farm. The skunk does practically no damage and is worth his while because he devours the worms and grubs which do so much damage to small crops. Even a fine lawn is better for his being for he digs out the grubs and consumes them.

From one of four black walnut trees on his farm in the north part of the town of Orange, Frank S. Fokett has picked this fall 4 1-2 bushels of walnuts. Mr. Fokett picked up five black walnuts in New York state when he was riding through the state on a bicycle on his way to the world's fair in Chicago and upon returning home he planted them. This was in 1893 and four of the nuts developed into large trees. The nuts from a black walnut tree are almost round and are about twice as large as the regular shagbark nut.

NATURE AND LIFE—II

In the wilds of Nature is seldom heard a cry of distress and, maybe, never a note of complaint. The exposure of life to perils of forest and open plain hath made it hardy, courageous, brave. The griefs of heart are lulled to silence. The tones of despair are muffled. Each form of life seems to be dwelling there with the conviction that Nature has little or no sympathy for her children, but would teach them to be strong, to take their freehold of existence with no spirit of murmuring. All that is offered is worth a struggle and even a fight. So in the realms where Nature's own children stay may be heard the voices of aggression, but oftener the notes of gratitude, the song of gladness. The singing voice is the predominant one. The birds are the choir which carry up to their leafy loft and send far out upon the air the joy and thankfulness at the heart of free creatures. And even the crickets near their little dens harp their gladness at the feast of life. (In the woods, Aug. 1, 1900.)

"The manifold and spontaneous mimicry of Nature," of which Horace Bushnell spoke, is the universal and inherent power of perpetuity of her spirit and her life. Nature is original in her repetitions. From each seed springs a new creation—like unto the old, it may be, yet new. The song of the bird is like unto that which was sent forth a hundred or a thousand years before, but it is no imitation, it is not fashioned after anything of the past or present even, but is sung out of the impulse of the moment. The play of the lambs on the hillsides of America is so much like that over the pastures of Palestine, or in Egypt, that if thought might photograph the two scenes perfectly and bring them together tangibly they should appear the same; but the lambs apart in distance or time are unconscious of mimicry, and to them there is no mimicry—only original acts from a full heart that forgets not its spirit; and at the dawn their destiny was written in the flowing lines of freedom and joy.

The greatest and most useful power of memory is that of life itself. There are some things and some impressions evanescent and passing. They were not meant to be otherwise. We cannot fix, as in sculptured stone, the shape of the cloud in the sky, or the lifted wave or spray of the sea. The cloud continues only as a part of the sum of moisture, so too the wave or the foam that frets at the surface of the water. There are new forms and combinations for these and other things of their class. The continuity of the life-principle in them assures this. It is so of our life. The life-principle is dominant in us. Our relation to the past should not limit the power of the present moment or day with its peculiar opportunity. Let the old order break up now and again with life penetrating the day that is, and coming to a future to be molded largely by the power that is living and expanding in its very nature and genius.

Life is a process of addition or multiplication. Faculty does not move in a straight line nor in a circle of one size. The days come round never the same. We stretch the diameter of our orbit in the years. We comprehend and put in action more, and may live and enjoy more at the outer rim of the days.

Charles Chambers Conner

Starting Cars

Starting a motor in cold weather can be greatly facilitated by disengaging the clutch before stepping on the starter pedal, according to E. K. Schadt, chief electrical engineer of the Cadillac Motor Car Company.

By disengaging the clutch you avoid the unnecessary added burden of turning over the transmission gears explained Mr. Schadt. The engine itself is cold, and stiff enough to constitute a considerable drain on the battery without adding the strain of turning over gears which are heavy with thick grease.

The average driver, not stopping to consider just what happens when he presses down on the starter pedal, is content to assure himself that the gear lever is in neutral position. But he will find his starting much easier this winter if he will remember to throw out the clutch first. As a matter of fact, the clutch should be disengaged first both in winter and summer, but it is more imperative to do it in cold weather.

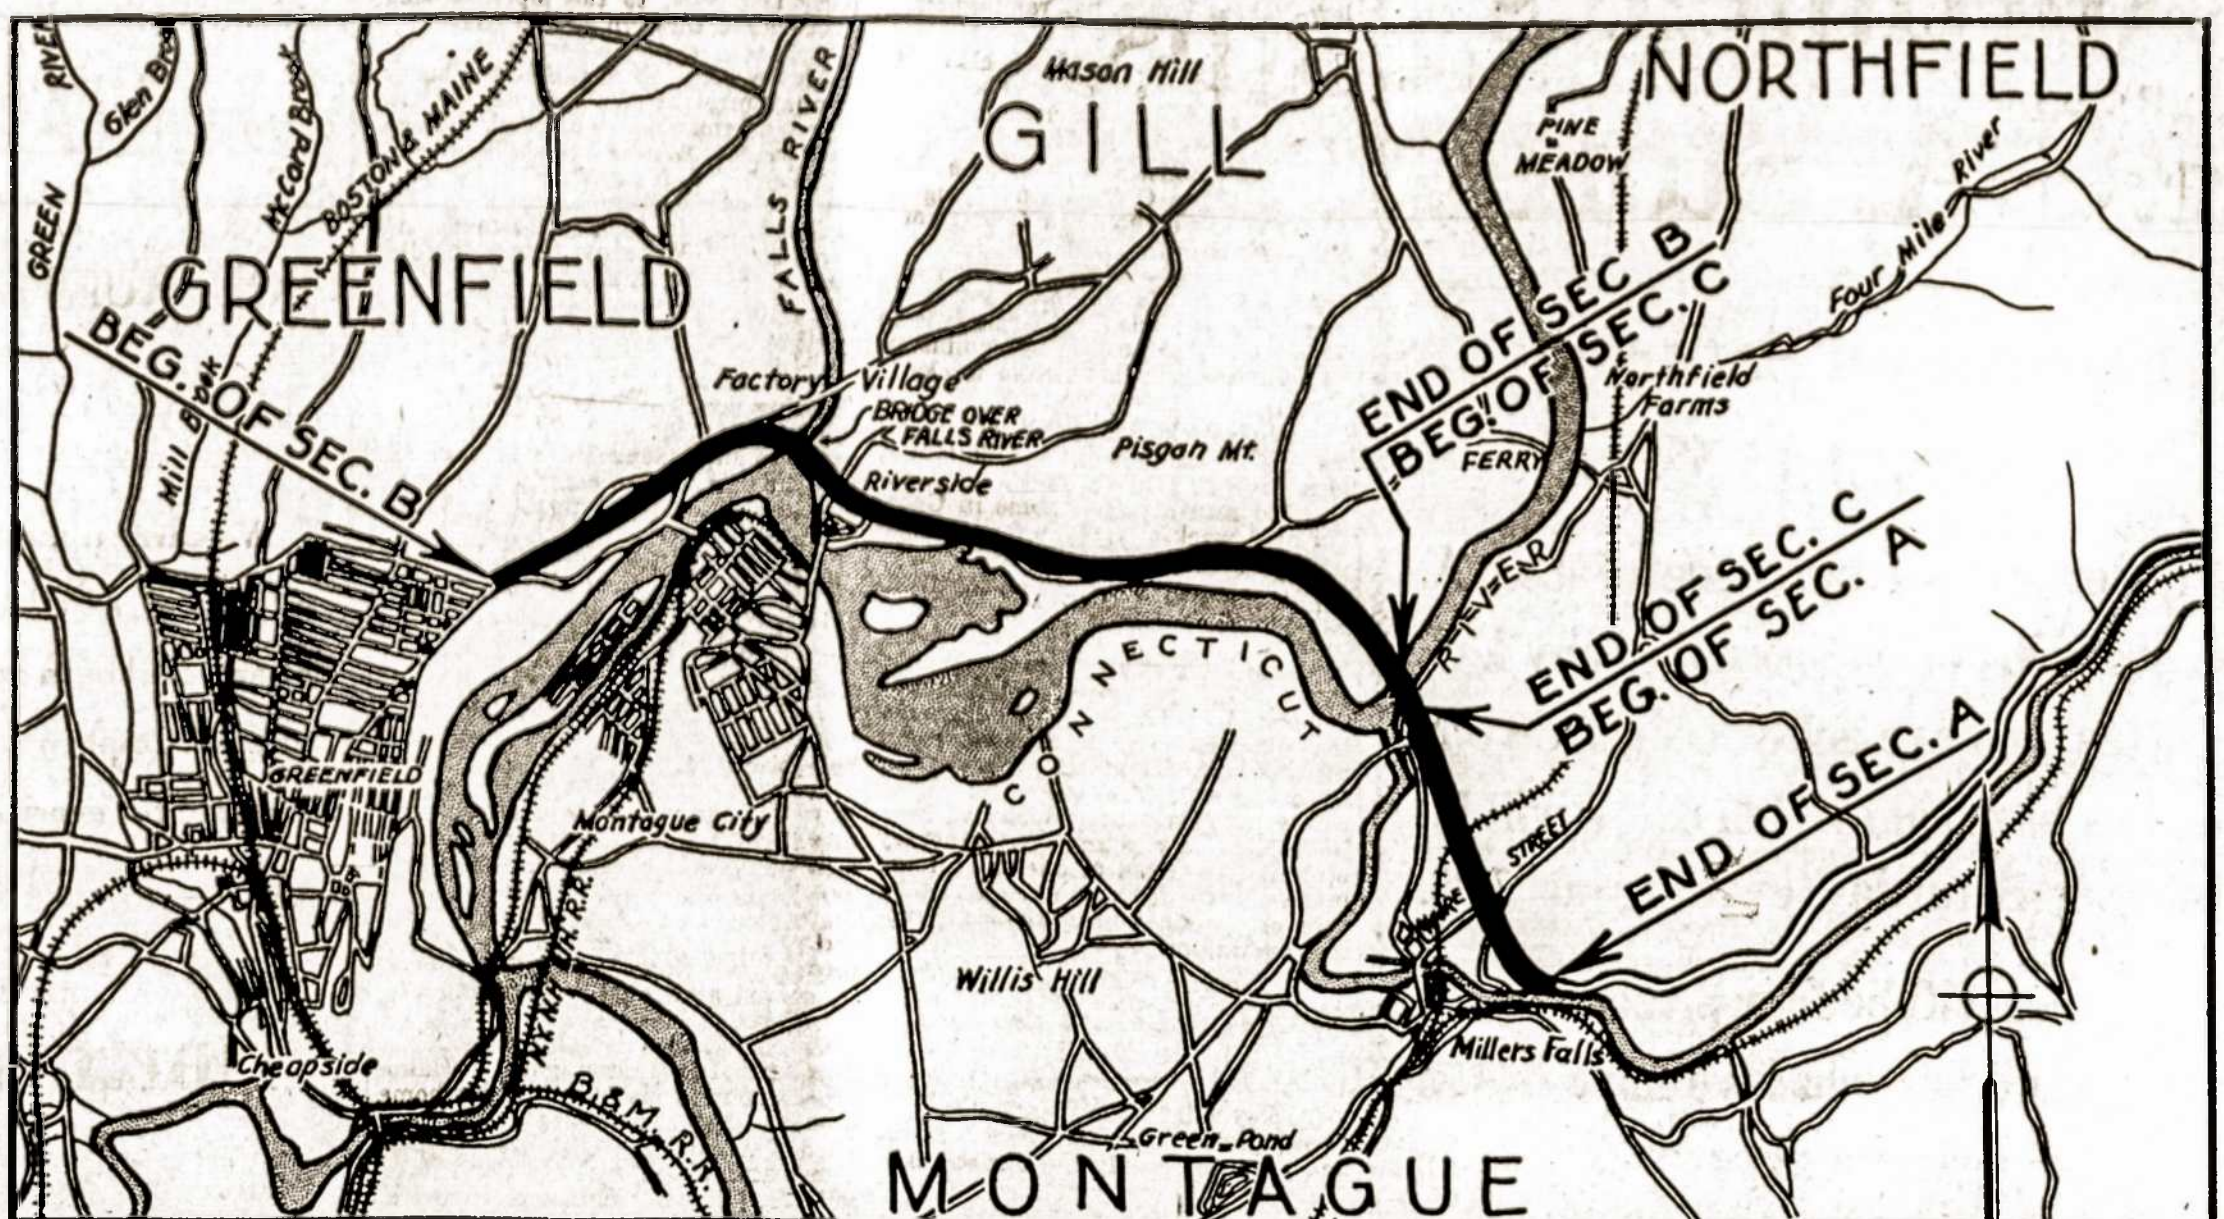

Solving the problem of starting cold, stiff engines, however, is not wholly up to the driver. Engineers are constantly striving to develop easier starting mechanisms. As example, we are now equipping all Cadillac and LaSalle cars with double reduction starting gears. Through this improvement, the driver can start his car with less drain on the battery. This, naturally, means that the battery will last longer and give better service.

County Court House

Bonds Were Sold

Bids for the Franklin County court-house bonds were opened by the county commissioners at the courthouse Tuesday morning and the $350,000 issue was awarded to Chase, Harris, Forbes, Co., Boston in which $275,000 of the bonds will bear four and one-half percent interest until their maturity during certain periods in the next 15 years. The remaining $75,000 will bear four and one quarter percent interest and are payable during the last five of the 20 year period. The bonds will be retired at the rate of $20,000 annually for the first 10 years. $15,000 annually, during the next 10 years.

With respect to the payment of postage on correspondence addressed to foreign countries, attention is invited to the importance of prepaying postage in full, since articles on which the postage has not been prepaid, or has not been fully prepaid, represent money which should be realized by the post office of mailing in this country, and when dispatched are subject to special treatment which necessarily involves more or less delay, in some cases sufficient to miss an intended steamship dispatch. Furthermore, as the deficiency in postage (doubled to most countries, including all of the above) is collected on delivery, unpaid or short-paid articles may be refused by addressees.

Maroon To Be Color Of 1932 Auto Plates

Maroon colored registration plates for next year have been distributed to the various branches of the State's Registry of Motor Vehicles and motorists from Northfield who made inquiry at the Greenfield office were advised that they can not be given out until the word to do so has been received from headquarters.

In the meantime the state legislators are wrestling with the perplexing compulsory insurance laws and the 1932 rates have yet to be set. It is believed likely that the registering of vehicles for the coming year may be held up some next month because of the difficulty being faced with regard to the insurance law.

The registration fees for 1932 will be the same as last year. Vehicles of under 30 horsepower will pay $3; from 30 to 40 horsepower $4.50; from 40 to 50 horsepower $6 and over 50 horsepower $7.50.

THE ARMY WORM INVASION

In connection with the grasshopper plague which damaged crops in some of the western states this year, it is interesting to note that New England, from Northfield, Mass., to Lancaster, this state, was visited in 1770 by a species of the army worm which devoured most of the standing crops. Of them in his history of New Hampshire, Prof. Edwin D. Sanborn, wrote: "They were the most loathsome and greedy invaders that ever polluted the earth. They covered the entire ground, so that not a finger's breadth was left between them. In their march, they crawled over houses and barns, covering every inch of the boards and shingles. Every stalk of corn and wheat was doomed by them. The inhabitants dug trenches; but they soon filled them to the surface and the remaining army marched over their prostrate companions. They continued their devastations more than a month; then suddenly disappeared, no one knows where. Eleven years later a second visitation of the same worm was made, but they were few in number." BERNARDSTON

The Senior Class of Powers Institute with their principal, Mr. Bryant are a loyal bunch of school enthusiasts and are now much concerned in making every effort to secure their Washington trip and boosting The Northfield Herald in their community. Arrangements have been concluded whereby members of the class will take subscriptions for The Herald and receive a very goodly share of the cost as their commission, the profit to go into the Washington trip fund. Furthermore the class will collect the latest news and happenings in the town and will be paid for their services—the proceeds to go for the Washington trip. If you are called upon by the members of the class—give them the hand of co-operation and incidentally help them to make sure of that trip to Washington. Your money will be well spent and you will receive The Herald for an entire year.

The Seniors and Juniors Visit Paper Mills

Through the courtesy of The Northfield Printing Company the entire Senior class visited the International Paper mills in Turners Falls Monday with Mr. Bryant and Miss Estey. Henry R. Gould, President and General Manager, Frank W. Williams, Treasurer and Miles E. Morgan, Director of the Printing company furnished automobiles and took the classes from the school to the mill. Arrangements had already been made by Mr. Gould with Mr. Hosmer, Manager of the mills to conduct the classes through the mills. Therefore the students were able to witness the process of papermaking from the time that the gigantic grinders reduce the wood to pulp to the time that the finished paper was being cut into various sizes for commercial use and wrapped in readiness for shipping. Samples of the paper in various stages of development were carried home by the eager students. To crown the wonderful trip the kind conveyers took the classes by the long way home via Millers Falls and Northfield. The classes thank heartily all those who made this very interesting and educational trip possible.
